Medicare is a national body that subsidises primary health care in Australia. Generally, Medicare provides a rebate on the cost of seeing a doctor, but doctors can write special plans that mean you can claim a Medicare rebate for seeing other kinds of health professionals, like therapists. Some of the most relevant plans to people with ASD are listed on this information sheet.

For the most part, Medicare will only refund a limited portion of the overall cost of service and this will usually leave you with a gap that you need to pay yourself. If you end up paying a lot for medical services in one year, you may reach the Medicare Safety Net. Reaching the Medicare Safety Net means you get a higher rebate for Medicare-subsidised services.

Individuals will be notified by Medicare when they approach the safety net, but families will need to register with Medicare so that Medicare knows to tally their medical expenses together. For more information, call Medicare on 13 20 11 or read about it at www.medicareaustralia.gov.au.

Chronic Disease Management Plan

Previously Enhanced Primary Care (EPC) plan

The Chronic Disease Management (CDM) Plan provides:

- Five sessions with an Allied Health Professional per calendar year (see below for a list of professionals who are considered Allied Health Professionals).

People with Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASDs) are eligible for the CDM Plan because ASD is a chronic condition.

The CDM Plan can be written by your GP and people with ASDs are eligible for five sessions every calendar year. Once the initial plan has been made, the GP will not need to write a new plan each year, but may review the plan.

- Aboriginal Health Workers
- Audiologists
- Chiropractors
- Diabetes Educators
- Dietitians

Better Access to Mental Health Plan

Also known as Mental Health Care Plan

This plan provides:

- Six sessions of individual therapy with a Psychologist, Occupational Therapist or Social Worker. An additional four sessions are available following a review with the GP (a maximum of ten sessions per calendar year).

- 10 Group Sessions of therapy with a Psychologist, Occupational Therapist, or Social Worker.

The Better Access to Mental Health Care plan is an option available for anybody (individuals with an ASD, parents, siblings, carers etc.) who feels that their overall wellbeing and mental health is at risk.

Mental illness is common; around one in five Australians will experience a mental illness at some stage in their lives. Your mental health can be affected by a number of things; physical problems such as chemical imbalances in the brain, as well as non-physical problems such as exposure to trauma, family environments, cumulative stress and difficult life events.

We know that having a child with an ASD can be difficult. Any members of the family who are feeling sad, confused, depressed or anxious about the person in the family who has an Autism Spectrum Disorder should see their GP to discuss other professionals who may be able to support them, such as social workers or counsellors.

People who have ASDs can also have mental health difficulties. They may be anxious about the environments around them; they may be depressed because they are having difficulty forming relationships with other people. There are many reasons why they would be eligible to access the Better Access to Mental Health Care Plan, and they should be encouraged to seek support from the appropriate professionals.

Group sessions can be used for social skills groups, play therapy groups, anxiety groups, or any group that is run by the above listed professionals and is working towards building the confidence, self esteem and ability of the person with an autism spectrum disorder.

People are eligible for up to 10 sessions under the Better Access to Mental Health plan every calendar year. You can get a referral from your

GP. Make sure you book a long consultation with your doctor to allow you and your doctor enough time to prepare a GP Mental Health Care Plan and discuss your treatment options. A Psychiatrist or Paediatrician can also write this referral.

The Helping Children with Autism Access to Diagnosis and Treatment Plan

This provides the following:

- Four Appointments for Private Diagnosis referred by a Paediatrician or Psychiatrist to a Psychologist, Speech Therapist, Occupational Therapist, Audiologist, Optometrist, Orthoptist or Physiotherapist. This is called the 'Helping Children with Autism Increased Access To Diagnosis'
- 20 Sessions with a Psychologist, Speech Therapist, Occupational Therapist, Audiologist, Optometrist, Orthoptist or Physiotherapist. This is called the 'Helping Children With Autism Treatment Plan'

Families have the option of using the Medicare rebate system to help pay for private assessments. The family's paediatrician or psychiatrist can diagnose the child with autism, in collaboration with the allied health professionals listed above. The rebate allows a total of four sessions with these professionals (together not each).

With a diagnosis of a Pervasive Developmental Disorder, the child will be eligible for 20 sessions of therapy with one of the above listed allied health professionals. Your paediatrician or psychiatrist will develop a treatment plan for your child with you. These rebates can only be used once in the child's life time, they must be written by their 13th birthday, and used by their 15th birthday.

It is important to see professionals who have knowledge and understanding of ASDs. Please call Amaze (Autism Victoria) for contact details of professionals who have knowledge of ASDs.
